8 _ Nowadays most children regularly play games on a computer or their television. These games have 9 become more violent over the past few years. _ In fact, many parents worry about this and the effect 10 these games are having on their children. Some are concerned that playing violent games might 11 encourage them to come aggressive in real life. What we need to establish is whether or not this is 12 actually true. _ First, it may help to look back at the games that children used to play many years ago
13 before the invention of computers. In those days children would probably have played popular board 14 games such as Monopoly or Chess, or they may have played card games or some type of outdoor 15 sport. These sports or games would probably only have encouraged children to become more 16 competitive rather than violent. _ However, throughout history children have always played fighting 17 games with toy or pretend weapons. Even now many parents will buy a toy gun or sword for their 18 child. _ Why do we never read reports in the media about the impact plastic weapons could have on 19 children? Perhaps this is because the link between play fighting and actual fighting is not very strong.
20 _ littering career, there are still a lot of significant factors which might enable them to lead a happy
21 life. 219words
