

CORE ED

Stage 7 Lesson 428

Cry

laugh

smile

What am I doing?

You're crying.

What am I doing?

You're laughing.

What am I doing?

You're smiling.

Do you like people who laugh a lot?

Yes, I like people who laugh a lot.

No, I don't like people who laugh a lot.

CORE ED

Stage 7

Do you think girls cry more often than boys?

Yes, I think girls cry more often than boys.

No, I don't think girls cry more often than boys.

Do you cry when you're happy?

No, I don't cry when I'm happy, I smile.

CORE ED

Stage 7 Lesson 429

Have had enough

The verb form of have are have, had, had

What are the verb forms of “have”?

The verb forms of have are “have, had, had”.

What time did you have breakfast yesterday?

I had breakfast at seven a.m. yesterday.

Have you had lunch today?

Yes, I have had lunch today.

No, I haven't had lunch today.

Have you ever had a holiday abroad?

Yes, I have had a holiday abroad.

No, I haven't had a holiday abroad.

CORE ED

Stage 7 Lesson 430

just

The present

put

read

say

sit

stand

the past

put

read(red)

said

sat

stood

the past participle

put

read(red)

said

sat

stood

What are the verb forms of “put”?

The verb forms of put are “put, put, put”.

Have I just put my bag on the table?

Yes, you have just put your bag on the table

CORE ED

Stage 7

What are the verb forms of “read”?

The verb forms of read are “read, read, read”.

Have you read anything interesting this week?

Yes, I’ve read something interesting this week.

No, I’ve never read anything interesting this week.

What are the verb forms of “say”?

The verb forms of say are “say, said, said”.

“Past Participle”

Have I just said “past participle”?

Yes, you’ve just said past participle

CORE ED

Stage 7

What are the verb forms of “sit”?

The verb forms of sit are “sit, sat, sat”.

(sit down)

Note: Do the action.

Have I just sat down?

Yes, you have just sat down.

What are the verb forms of “stand”?

The verb forms of stand are “stand, stood, stood”.

(stand up)

Have I just stood up?

Yes, you have just stood up.

(sit down)

Have I just stood up?

No, you haven't just stood up, you have just sat down.