Rob: I've just been using our department's new 4-in-1 printer. It took me quite a time to get the hang of it.

Bor: Ken's just been telling me about it. Apparently it's a very versatile machine which can do lots of things.

Rob: That's just it. There are lots of menus available on the control panel and they each have lots of options. It can be quite complicated.

Bor: I suppose that's the price you pay for its high technology.

Rob: I know. But I need to read the manual and have an orientation to get to grips with it.

Bor: We've got to tell the boss.

Try this
