Questions (2) (Do you know where . . . ? / She asked me where . . .)

Δ

We say:

Where has Tom gone?

but Do you know where Tom has gone? (not Do you know where has Tom gone?)

When a question (Where has Tom gone?) is part of a longer sentence (Do you know . . . ? / I don't know . . . / Can you tell me . . . ?, etc.), the word order changes. Compare:

What time is it?

Who is that woman?

Where can I find Linda?

How much will it cost?

but Do you know what time it is?

I don't know who that woman is.

Can you tell me where I can find Linda?

Do you have any idea how much it will cost?

Be careful with do/does/did questions (simple present and past). We say:

What time does the movie begin? but

What do you mean?

Why did Ann leave early?

Do you know what time the movie begins?

(not Do you know what time does)

Please explain what you mean.

I wonder why Ann left early.

Use if or whether where there is no other question word (what, why, etc.):

Did anybody see you?

but Do you know if (or whether) anybody saw you?

В

The same changes in word order happen in reported questions:

direct: The police officer said to us, "Where are you going?"

reported: The police officer asked us where we were going.

direct: Claire asked, "What time do the banks close?"

reported: Claire wanted to know what time the banks closed .

In reported questions, the verb usually changes to the past (were/closed, etc.). See Unit 44.

Study these examples. You had an interview for a job, and these were some of the questions the interviewer asked you:

Are you willing to travel?

What do you do in your spare time?

Do you have a driver's license?

How long have you been working at your present job?

Where did you go to school?

INTERVIEWER Can you u

Can you use a computer?

Later you tell a friend what the interviewer asked you. You use reported speech:

She asked (me) if I was willing to travel.

She wanted to know what I did in my spare time.

She asked (me) how long I had been working at my present job.

She asked (me) where I had gone to school. (or . . . where I went)

She wanted to know whether (or if) I could use a computer.

She asked whether (or if) I had a driver's license.
