

Chapter 2 Post-Test

You will write a paragraph about something you are learning in school. It could be how to solve a type of math problem, details about people who lived long ago, or a comparison of two types of rocks or bodies of water. Think of a topic for your paragraph and write it below.

In the space below, plan your paragraph in a way that seems best. List facts and details. Make an idea web or a Venn diagram. Decide what type of organization you will use: time-order, spatial, compare and contrast, order of importance, or something else.

Now, write your paragraph. Make sure all the information is about the main idea. Finish with a concluding sentence.
